Through the beneficence of Mr. Albion Knowlton, a distributing agency has been established at the Seminary, which will be conducted without expense to the town, except for fuel. It is to have half of the books, generally the even numbers: but all the reference books and soldier histories are at the Center, and numbers 78, 148, 214, 314, 364, 402, 410, 444, 498, 522, 620, and 686; while numbers 81, 103, 207, 223, 229, 297, 411, 423, 479, 495, 675, 687, and all the bound magazines, are at the Ridge. The Ridge section of the library will include a special collection of books, to be established by Mr. Knowlton. These will be numbered 1K, 2K, 3K, etc. The Seminary will also allow consultation of its Encyclopedia Britannica and Rand & McNally Atlas, without taking these books from the room. Books may be drawn from either section of the library, but must be returned to the place from which they were drawn. Library hours at the Seminary are Saturdays 2 to 5 p. m.

Report of the School Board.

It is somewhat difficult to maintain a high standard in our country schools with the amount of money appropriated for them.

It has been our aim to secure experienced teachers, and although some mistakes have been made, we think that the schools of Northwood are a credit to the town, and that our teachers compare favorably with those in other towns. We have watched the progress of pupils coming from other places, and compared them with pupils of the same grade in our own town, and we have yet to find one better taught than in Northwood.

It has been remarked by teachers in at least three cities, where students have entered from our public schools, that they had been well taught, and were at once promoted.

This speaks well for the quality of work of our teachers. We trust that our citizens will bear this in mind, when they hear our schools unjustly assailed.

“It is easy to criticise, it is difficult to improve.”

It has also been our aim to secure those who would work faithfully and patiently, and yet maintain a firm discipline.

But few combine the art of teaching with such moral training and mental firmness as to make them successful; and when such a one is found, if we wish to retain her in our schools, we must pay the market price.

He is the best friend to our system of public instruction who does not merely content himself with laudation, but investigates the subject with care, and in a right spirit points out wherein defects exist.

Education is the only heritage many parents can bestow upon their children. Many furnish it at a great personal sacrifice, while others allow their children to absent themselves from school simply because they do not like the teacher; and yet these same parents have never visited the school to investigate the matter.

In order to maintain our present standard and compare favorably with other towns we should have a school year of at least thirty weeks. It will be impossible to do this unless extra money is raised.

Will the town vote this money, or shall the school year be reduced to a less number of weeks?

Repairs are also necessary in at least four of our school buildings which cannot be made without money.

The teaching of vocal music is now being introduced in many places. We would suggest that all citizens give this careful thought and that at no distant day it may be introduced into our schools.

Dated at Northwood this thirteenth day of Feb. 1899.
